

WILLIAM STEVENS

Q. You live with your sister, Mrs. Hall?

A. Yes.

Q. And have lived with her all the time during her married life?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know of any friction between Mr. and Mrs. Hall?

A. I have never in my life seen a more loving couple.

Q. Did she ever speak to you about any conduct on the part of Mr. Hall that she disapproved of?

A. Never. Never mentioned it at all.

Q. Did you know Mrs. Mills?

A. Just knew who she was and that she sang in the choir.

Q. Did she sometimes come to your house?

A. I cannot say that, unless she might come to see my sister. I never knew her to call in any special way.

Q. Special way? Any other way?

A. Might come to see Mrs. Hall to see her about some little thing she wanted to see her.

Q. Did you ever see her there?

A. At some little social gathering. That's all.

Q. Ever come to any church social that happened to be held at the parsonage?

A. I might have. But generally when they would be there I was generally up in my own room.

Q. What did you do about the place?

A. Absolutely nothing for me to do. Just asked me to do a little errand down town and I would do it. If Mr. Hall asked me I would do it.

Q. Did you go away with them in the summer time?
